FROM THE FREEMAN'S JOURNAL.

TRADE TO THE BRAZILS.

As there is a probability that at least a trade to neutral countries will soon be in operation from the United States, we have postponed a great deal of original matter intended for this day's Journal, in order to give publicity to the following very important and correct view of the Brazil Market, by HENRY HILL, Esq. the American consul, which has been obligingly handed to the editors of the Freeman's Journal, by a much respected Mercantile friend, immediately on its receipt from that country. So full and so luminous is the view of this portion of the neutral trade, and from a country of which so little has hitherto been generally known, that it cannot but prove in the highest degree acceptable, not only to our Mercantile but also to our Agricultural readers, whose interests are, always have been, and must be, inseparably connected; and who have now a prospect of receiving some emolument, after suffering under the privations of a ruinous fifteen months Embargo. The Prince Regent of Portugal now reigns at the Brazils, and from this circumstance it is expected the American trade will be on a better footing and under better regulations, than it ever has been before.

St. Salvador, (Brazil) Nov. 20, 1808.

SIR,

Presuming it would be agreeable to you to receive information from this country, now that it is open to our commerce, I have sent you this letter with the memorandum which accompanies it.

In my remarks I have endeavored to be sufficiently explicit, that you might have all the information which appeared necessary concerning the most suitable articles for this market, and of those which are usually exported. But, from the present commercial state of this country, its accustomed commerce suspended, its principal productions reduced to mere nominal prices, and being overstocked as it is with almost every description of British manufactures, it is particularly recommended that cargoes intended for this market, or any of the ports in Brazil, be well assorted, and not consist of a great proportion of any one article. There is also another material cause existing to render this adviseable. This is the custom which has always prevailed, and will necessarily exist for a long time, of retailing cargoes, and selling on long credits; in which the merchants being all interested, whilst this country was secluded from foreign intercourse, they were heretofore unanimous, in order to keep up prices. It is therefore to be apprehended this will essentially operate against our commerce, especially when the concurrence in market of the same kind of goods shall be considerable, as the same motives will not prevail to unite in one common design.

It is also proper to acquaint you, that should the restoration of Portugal be confirmed, or the ports of Spain offer security to Brazilian commerce, it is expected the productione of this country generally, will experience an immediate augmentation of prices; and, it is also believed, that many articles included in the memorandum, which your own intelligence will point out, will be supplied from thence direct, on better terms than through the channel of our commerce.

Referring your attention to the information of a commercial nature by the Hamlet, respecting the favorable dispositions of this government, and the friendly footing upon which our commerce will be received here and protected, I beg leave to assure you, and my fellow-citizens generally, that on all occasions my best efforts will be directed to promote the prosperity of our commerce hither, particularly at this port of my residence. But expecting in a few months to return to the United States for a short time, I beg leave to recommend, by their permission, the house of Antonio de Silva Lisboa & Co. of this city, as second to none in this country in point of respectability, solidity, and commercial intelligence, and who will now attend to American business.

I am, sir,
Very respectfully,
Your most obedient servant,
HENRY HILL.

Memorandum of articles suitable to the markets of Rio-de-Janeiro and San Salvedor.

Cod-fish—should be dry and white, and in small packages. Present price at Rio, 5 dollars per quintal, at St. Salvador 8 dollars; consumption of the latter place, by import of 1806, 10,000 quintals—none good in the markets.

Spermaceti candles—none in market, small supply required.

Wax candles—made in the country, but as assorted sizes will answer if afforded at 60 cents per lb.

Masts and spars—wanted principally for topmasts and yards, none of pine on hand;—the wood of the country heavy and very dear, particularly at Rio, but preferred for lower masts.

Tar: Swedish preferred, some in market; price at Rio 8 dlls. per bbl. at St. Salvador 6.

Rosin: same,

Pitch: scarce, 10 a 12 dols. per bbl.

Spirits of turpentine: wanted, and most at Rio.

Black and white varnish: do. do.

Gun powder: last sale at St. Salvador of 600 kegs, at 24 dollars per keg, since which 2000 have arrived from England. Can only be sold to government.

Lead in pigs: 8 dolls. per qtl.—plenty for present supply.

Iron in bars: 7 a 8 dolls. per qtl. plenty for present supply. Swedish preferred

Iron hoops: $ 8 50 per q'l. plenty for present supply.

Prime Beef: no American—sales of Irish at Rio, 6 guineas per bbl. of 3d quality to British navy—very little used by Portuguese.

Pork: no American—very little used by Portuguese.

Hams: 300 reas per lb. last sale—few in market.

Butter: 500 reas per lb. St. Salvador, 300 do. at Rio. Plenty of Irish at the latter place, which loses at this price; good article. Consumption at St. Salvador in 1806, near 4000 kegs.

Cheese: 400 reas per lb. at St. Salvador, 300 at Rio—little market.

Flour—13 dollars per bbl. at St. Salvador, and 12 at Rio. Plenty of the country at Rio, from Rio Grande wheat—not so good as American, and price about 12 dollars per 6 arrobes, 192 lbs. It is judged that 10,000 barrels from America for St. Salvador, and 8000 for Rio, would be sufficient supply.

Pilot bread, middlings, crackers and biscuit—none in market; will answer well if not too much flour in market.

Mahogany furniture: low priced tables, drawers, secretaries, writing desks with shaving apparatus, &c. Windsor chairs, fancy chairs and settees with India bottoms, and of wood, will sell well in any quantity.

Saddlery: 26 dollars for saddle and bridle, few wanted and great plenty of English.

Boots and shoes: Plenty of the country and of English.

Vermicelli: none in market, good article, small quantity.

Cables and cordage: 20 a 24 dollars per qtl. Russia preferred: considerable in the market of English and other, and small vessels of the country use that's made of a species of grass at St. Salvador.

Implements and utensils for agriculture:—manchets, hoes, pruning knives, but require to be of a particular form, and are generally brought from Oporto.

Russia duck: 24 dollars per piece: little in market, but considerable English.

Ravens duck: 14 a 16 dollars per piece: no great supply required.

Ravens sheetings: none in market: uncertain, as coarse cottons are used in lieu.

Milan and Trieste steel: none: good article: small quantity.

Cutlery and hardware: in general, great plenty of English.

Machinery for sugar works: uncertain—wood used instead.

Crockery ware: 50 a 120 per cent. on invoice: great plenty.

Porcelain: little used, and plenty at St. Salvador.

Glass ware: of low quality from Germany, any quantity would sell: candle shades, tumblers, do. small for wine, low priced decanters, assortment of square and round looking glasses, gilt frames, do papered, dressing glasses, &c.

Tin plates: great plenty from England.

Copper in sheets: 4 a 500 reas per lb. Plenty for present supply.

Sheet lead—saleable.

Sheet iron—7 dollars per quintal, not much used.

Paint of all kinds: plenty.

Castile soap: little might answer: none in market, but great plenty of other kinds made in the country, and cheap.

Superfine cloth, second quality, do. cassimeres, coatings, duffils (blue), flannels, blankets—the markets of either place, particularly St. Salvador, require at any time but few of woollen goods. At present the country is overstocked with English, for years to come, and from Rio we may expect to see them shipped to the United States. Even should the River of Plate be opened, as the English anxiously hope it may be, the supplies are great for all South America.

Bombazeens, and Shalloons—assorted colors and small quantities will answer.

Chintz and calicoes of modern taste and narrow; dimities, fine, corded and plain; jeans, fine, plain, white; muslins, wide, white, tambored and open work; cotton stockings, fine, plain, and with open clocks, would sell well, but in general cotton goods are plenty in the markets from England, and of coarse cottons of the country.

India piece goods—great plenty—a cargo of 2118 bales assorted on hand at St. Salvador from Bengal and Calcutta, and part of two cargoes on hand at Rio—Portuguese ships lately arrived.

Silks—few in market, and would sell well in small parcels, if assorted colors in general low priced and showy, viz.

China satins, striped and plain
Sinchews, do. do.
French sattins, do. taffeties, do. damasks
Do. drougets, do. velvets, striped, plain and figured.

Ribbons—mostly from two to four inches wide, and more of deep crimson, blues and scarlets, than other colors, very saleable.

Sewing silk—assorted colors—good article—small quantity.

French silk stockings—plain, and also with open clocks, very saleable.

Perfumeries—no sale.

Toys for children—saleable.

Gold lace, gold thread, silver thread, silver lace, gold epaulets—saleable, particularly at Rio.

Thread laces—broad, white and black—good articles—but few of the highest priced.

Thread: well assorted and small quantity.

Needles: saleable do.

Silk fans: a few would answer, but low priced and showy.

Jewelry and Watches; not recommended unless showy, low-priced, and such as have pearl ornaments.

Yellow nankeens: might answer at Rio, but at St. Salvador there is a cargo on hand of 200,000 pieces narrow, 10,000 wide, and 10,000 pieces blue.

Printed linens; French cambrics; estopillas, plain, striped and figured; long lawns; Hollands; wide Britannias (no Scotch); narrow do; platillas; white rolls; creas; dowlas; osnaburghs; checks, No. 2: and in general all kinds of French, German, and Silesian linens, of which there are none of consequence in the country, would sell exceedingly well, and in almost any reasonable quantity, both at St Salvador and Rio but particularly the former place—should be more Britannias than others, and assorted 3-5 ordinary, 2-5 fine,

Teas: are of little consumption, and there is at St. Salvador a cargo from China of a Lisbon ship of 7000 chests assorted—the low class substitute the herb of Paraguay, an herb produced in Brazil.

Pepper: plenty produced in the province St. Salvador for its own consumption, and begins to be exported. There is also a considerable hand of Sumatra, of 4000 sacs.

Cinamon, cloves, nutmegs, mace: very little consumed.

Salt: in abundance from England, Portugal and Cape de Verds for present supply, and no sale unless coarse.

Wines: plenty of Figuera, and 1500 pipes of Madeira at St. Salvador, which will probably be shipped to the U. S.

Claret: in casks—none in market at Rio. in low, will answer well, particularly if small

Claret: in boxes—has been in small quantity from England, at charges exceeding 4 guineas—present demand dols at St. Salvador $6 and upwards—some

Married on the 16th ult. at Winchester by the Rev. Mr. HILL, Dr. EDWARD CONRAD to the amiable Miss HARRIOT RORDEAU.

CONGRESS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, February 28.

Mr. Newton reported a bill authorising the collector of the port of Baltimore, under certain conditions, to grant a register to the ship Thomas. A motion was made by Mr. Newton and seconded by Mr. Isley, that the bill be ordered to be read a third time. A motion was made by Mr. Holland to postpone it indefinitely and negatived, 45 to 35. It was then referred to a committee of the whole.

A bill to extend to Messrs. Whittemore for a further time the right to a machine for manufacturing cotton and wool cards, was PASSED, 55 to 18.

INVALID PENSIONERS.

The house resolved itself into a committee of the whole, Mr. Desha in the chair, on the bill concerning invalid pensioners.

A motion was made by Mr. Holmes to strike out the fourth section of the bill which authorizes the payment of the aggregate amount of the arrearages of pensions from the time their disability was incurred, to all persons entitled to pensions—Carried.

A motion was made by Mr. Macon, and carried, to strike out of the bill the third section, which allows pensions to all persons in any manner incurring disability during the revolutionary war, whether by voluntary expeditions or otherwise, &c.

A motion was made by Mr. Blackledge to insert an amendment providing for the payment to all persons placed on the pension list since the 1st January, 1796, of the aggregate amount of arrearages for ten years preceding. Negatived.

The committee rose and reported the bill as amended.

The house concurred in striking out the third section, 47 to 30.

Mr. Randolph, who originally moved the fourth section, called for the yeas and nays on concurrence with the committee in striking out the section.

Mr. Rowan spoke at length in support of the section, which he conceived to be imperiously called for both by justice and policy. The money due to our old soldiers was a just debt, to which it did not become the government to plead the statue of limitation.

Mr. Randolph also spoke at large in explanation of his reasons for offering the amendment, and in support of it. The claim of the persons placed on the pension list had been rigidly scrutinized, and payment of them could not in justice be refused unless from inability of the government to pay them.

The question on concurrence was decided as follows—

YEAS—Messrs. W. Alston, Bard, Barker, Bassett, Blake, Blunt, Boyle, Burwell, Butler, Chittenden, Culpepper, Desha, Durell, Franklin, Gholson, Goodwin, Green, Helmes, Holland, Holmes, Humphreys, Ilsley, Kenan, Macon, Marion, Masters, M'Creery, N. R. Moore, Jer. Morrow, John Morrow, Mumford, Newbold, Porter, Pugh, Rea, Pen. Rhea, Ten. J. Richards, M. Richards, Seaver, Shaw, Sloan, Smilie, J. K. Smith, J. Smith, Stanford, Storer, Swart, Taggart, Talmadge, Taylor, Wharton, Whitehill, A. Wilson, —53.

NAYS—Messrs. Blackledge, Calhoun, J. Campbell, Champion, Clay, Davenport, Dawson, Gardner, Harris, Hoge, Howland, R. S. Jackson, Jenkins, Johnson, Kelly, Lambert, Lyon, Milnor, Mosely, Nelson. Newton, Nicholas, Quincy, Randolph, Rowan, Smelt, S. Smith, Van Renselaer, Van Dyke, Van Horn, Verplanck, M. Williams—32.

So the section was struck out.

Mr. Blackledge renewed the motion which he made in committee of the whole, and spoke at length in support of it.

The motion was negatived, by yeas and nays, by a large majority.

The bill was ordered to a third reading ; and subsequently passed nem. con.

The house then resolved itself into committee of the whole, MR DESHA in the chair, on the bill making further provision for the accommodation of the household of the President of the U. S. The bill being gone through was reported to the house, and ordered to be read a third time to-day. It was then read a third time and passed, by yeas and nays, 78 to 11.

HEMP, CORDAGE, ARMS, &c

The house resolved itself into a committee of the whole on the bill prohibiting for a limited time the exportation of arms, ammunition, canvas, cordage and hemp, and for encouraging the importation thereof.

Mr. Randolph moved to strike out the first section of the bill, which motion he supported on the ground of its inexpediency as tending to throw a damp on the culture of hemp in the country ; and on the ground of its unconstitutionality, the constitution not having expressly delegated to congress the power of prohibiting exports, and having prohibited Congress from taxing them, thereby implicitly denying Congress the power to prohibit exportation.

Mr. M'Creery stated in support of the bill that the U. S. were in the habit of importing annually twelve millions of pounds of hemp, and great quantities of canvas, great part of which was bought up to export for the British navy ; and from the frequency of this practice, it was expected that there would not be sufficient left in the country for home consumption.

Messrs. Quincy, Ely, Lyon and Rowan opposed the bill, observing that as to prohibiting the export of arms, there could be no occasion for that part of the bill, as arms of every kind bore now a higher price in this country than elsewhere ; that the passage of the bill would depress the culture of hemp as well as manufacture of cordage ; that the United States had already a sufficiency of naval stores ; that a restriction of this kind would only enable the merchant to purchase these articles at a lower price, at the expence of the growers of hemp and the manufacturers.

Mr. Sloan was opposed to the bill, because he disliked the general principle of restricting trade. The single reason that the bill partook somewhat of the nature of a partial embargo was sufficient to induce him to reject it.

The first section was struck out, 54 to 26.

The committee rose and reported their disagreement to the house, who concurred in it, Ayes 54.

Mr. Van Horn wished to retain the last section of the bill (for importing arms free of duty.)

Mr. Quincy observed that more could be manufactured in the United States than could possibly be wanted.

The whole bill was then negatived.

NAVIGATION LAWS.

Mr. Dana laid upon the table a resolution contemplating in substance the same regulations as the bill reported by him "concerning associations for the security of navigation." And the house adjourned.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE ABOVE WORK.

" We have had frequent occasion to speak of the diligence, good sense, and good intentions, of Mr. Murray; and we congratulate him sincerely on the success of this particular work. We announce this edition, because the alterations and additions are so considerable, that it is rendered almost a new work."

British Critic, July 1801.

" The examples which Mr. Murray has here selected, and the judicious reflections which accompany them, are such as can scarcely fail to make the best impressions, and to produce the best effects, on all who read them with attention. The present edition of this excellent publication, which has been long known and commended, is enlarged by the addition of twenty-two new characters, filling nearly one hundred pages."

Anti-Jacobin Review, Jan. 1804.

" We have received the tenth and last edition of this valuable work. The improvements made in it, will appear from the author's advertisement. We can only add to this account of the present useful volume, our hope that it will be extensively circulated among our countrymen."

The American Review & Literary Journal, for July, August & September, 1801.

" On reviewing this book, in its improved form, we find the facts unquestionable and highly interesting—the style correct and neat—and the general tendency of the work such as induces us strongly to recommend it, especially to young readers, who love entertainment mingled with instruction."

Evangelical Magazine, Oct 1801.

" The rapid sale of this small but valuable collection, has anticipated the commendation we are desirous to bestow. In an exemplification of more than seventy remarkable characters, many striking examples are exhibited which, in the quiet hour of reflection, may contribute to arrest the careless and wandering; to animate the sincere and virtuous; and to convince or discountenance those who have been unhappily led to oppose the highest truths." Gentleman's Magazine, Nov. 1803.
